FOREWORD

The information and records contained in this publication, and other volumes which we hope will follow, were gathered by the members of the Noble County Genealogical Society, Inc. in the summers of 1980-1983 in a grave-to-grave inventory of all known burial grounds in Noble County.

A dilligent effort was made to record the images and lettering as seen on the various grave markers, but the Society admits the possibility of errors and misinterpretations that may have been inadvertently made.

Noble County was organized in 1836 and burials before that date are indeed rare, if at all in existance.

Copies of this publication may be secured while the supply lasts at $18.00 each at the Society's address, 109 N. York St., Albion, Indiana 46701 or by U.S. mail for $19.50.

CHRISTIAN CHAPEL CEMETERY

Located 1/4 mi. north of Merriam, Indiana on State Road 33 and County Road 400S in the north-west 1/4 of Section 25.

Chapel cemetery was begun around the 1860's as near as we could determine and was primarily to take the place of the old Sanford Cemetery. You can find members of the same family buried in both Chapel and Sanford.

All the stones were recorded by location in each row as an aid in identifying family relationships. Letters or figures that were indistinct were recorded according to my best judgement and enclosed in parenthesis, thus 18(6)9. Any date which did not agree with that taken by the DAR 45 years ago was rechecked and corrected as it appears on the stones. Unusual or corrected names and dates have been underlined.

Some data in () was taken from the DAR records because it could no longer be read or it no longer appears on the stone.

At the end of this cemetery listing you will find a list of stones the DAR had recorded 45 years ago but were not found in 1980.

WOLF LAKE CEMETERY

Noble Twp

This cemetery is located eight tenths of a mile north-west of Wolf Lake on state road 33, then north on county road 450W one half mile on east side of road. In center of section 5 of Noble Twp.

According to the caretaker of many years this cemetery is believed to have been started before the town of Wolf Lake was platted, which places the beginning in the early 1830's. It is one of the older cemeteries in Noble County. The notorious Noble County outlaw, Marvin Kuhn is buried here.

All the stones were recorded by location in each row as an aid in identifying family relationships. It was commonly practiced in the older sections to place stones at the foot of the grave, making it very difficult to determine which row the grave is in.

Letters or figures that were indistinct were recorded according to my best judgement and enclosed in parenthesis, thus 18(6)9. Any data which did not agree with that taken by the DAR 45 years ago was rechecked and corrected as it appears on the stones. Unusual or corrected names and dates have been underlined.

Recording of each section was begun at the west along the road and continued east to the backof the cemetery. Each row was read from the left to right (north to south)

SECTION 1. Oldest section of the cemetery is at the south end. Begin at the tool shed. Read north to south.

End of Section 4

SECTION 5. This section has just this summer been cleared off and drives put in. There are no burials in this part as of Sept. 3, 1980.

Footnote: This cemetery is very well kept and in good condition. The grass is kept mowed and stones trimmed around. Only the deterioration of stones marrs the appearance of this very old cemetery.

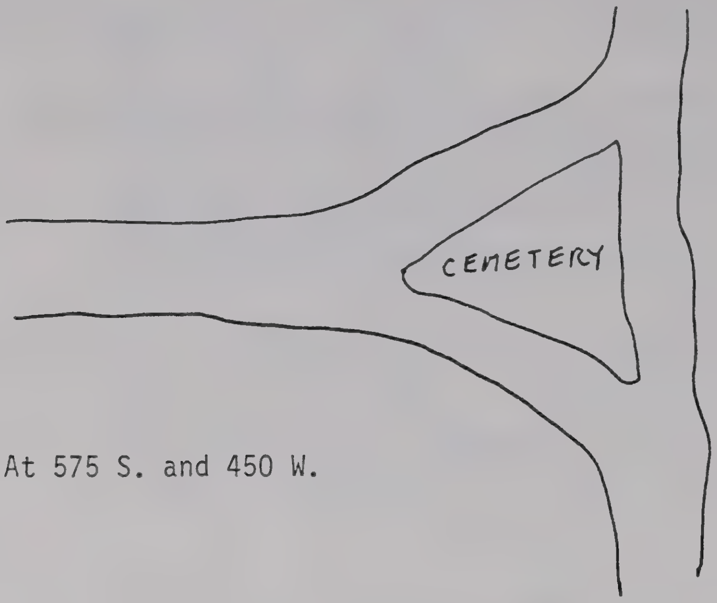
END OF CEMETERY

QUINN CEMETERY



At 575 S. and 450 W.

There are nine unmarked graves in a triangle of land formed by County Road 450 West and the lane to the Charlie Ott farm, now in 1983 the Delmar Schrader farm.

Great-grandparents of Jennie Quinn Weigold are two of the people buried there.

Great-grandfather Peter or William Quinn

Great-grandmother called Buck (a full blooded Indian)

Brothers and sisters of the above.

One grave is the resting place of a child of some travelers thought to have the name Howard.

There are supposed to be four Indians buried there.

SPARTA CEMETERY

Located in Sparta Township, Noble County, Indiana, in the center of Section 24 of the township. One quarter mile south of Kimmell on State Road 33. Cemetery is located on both sides of highway.

Charles Weade was an organizer of Sparta Cemetery and Mary Kettlebar was the first burial in 1882. There are many stones with earlier dates than 1882, however these were removed from other cemeteries and reburied in Sparta.

Sparta cemetery is very beautiful and very well taken care of.

All the stones were recorded by location in each row as an aid in identifying family relationships. Letters or figures that were indistinct were recorded according to my best judgement and enclosed in parenthesis, thus 18(6)9. Any data which did not agree with that taken by the DAR 45 years ago was rechecked and corrected as it appears on the stones. Unusual or corrected names and dates have been underlined.

The Cemetery's records were checked against the 1980 recording and burials recorded but no stones found for them are added at the end of this Cemetery listing. Some data in ( ) was taken from the burial records but not found on the stones.

SECTION 1 and 2. Both sections were read as though one section, as there was an old vacted drive that was unobserved until reading was nearly finished. These sections are directly in back of the church. Recording began with the first row behind the church and along the drive on the north side of church. Each row read left to right (north to south).

COUNTY FARM CEMETERY

Located in Section 11 of York Township, Noble County, IN, the north middle part. About 2 miles north of Albion on State Road 9, then west on 500 N about 1-1/2 mile, located on the south side of the road, just next to Wright Cemetery. This cemetery then was in deplorable condition, all grown with weeks and grass and not mowed.

First reading completed in April, 1983. In the summer of 2002 friend D. O. Watson did some extensive research there and uncovered three more stones. He says they are at the end of Row 2 and are for James State, Oliver Moffett, and George Mortimore. So this has prompted a reprinting of this page.
